QUESTION PRESENTED

Whether in a civil rights action against a government unit under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 an award of attorney's fees to the prevailing party is mandatory under 42 U.S.C. § 1988 irrespective of a state law rule of governmental immunity to liability for attorney's fees.

Petition For A Writ Of Certiorari To The Court Of Appeals For The Fourteenth Court Of Appeals District Of Texas

PETITION FOR A WRIT OF CERTIORARI

Petitioner Peter S. Steigerwald respectfully prays that a Writ of Certiorari issue to review the judgment and opinion of the Court of Appeals for the Fourteenth Court of Appeals District of Texas.

OPINION BELOW

The opinion and judgment of the Court of Appeals for the Fourteenth Court of Appeals District of Texas appears in the Appendix (App. 23-29) and the opinion is reported at 807 S.W.2d 790.

JURISDICTION

The judgment and opinion of the Court of Appeals was rendered on March 7, 1991. Upon an application for writ of error (discretionary review), the Supreme Court of Texas denied writ of error June 19, 1991 (App. 43). A motion for rehearing on the application was denied September 5, 1991 (App. 50). This petition for writ of error has been filed within ninety days of the date finalizing the judgment of the Court of Appeals under 28 U.S.C. § 2101(c), thus satisfying the time requirements for filing a petition for writ of certiorari under Rule 20, Rules of the Supreme Court of the United States. This Court's jurisdiction is invoked under 28 U.S.C. § 1257(3).

CONSTITUTIONAL AND STATUTORY PROVISIONS INVOLVED

Fifth Amendment to the Constitution:

> "No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due proces of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation."

Fourteenth Amendment, Section 1, to the Constitution:

> "All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

42 U.S.C. § 1983:

"Every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage, of any State or Territory or the District of Columbia, subjects, or causes to be subjected, any citizen of the United States or other person within the jurisdiction thereof to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in an action at law, suit in equity, or other proper proceeding for redress. For the purposes of this section, any Act of Congress applicable exclusively to the District of Columbia shall be considered to be a statute of the District of Columbia."

42 U.S.C. § 1988:

"The jurisdiction in civil and criminal matters conferred on the district courts by the provisions of this Title, and of Title "CIVIL RIGHTS," and of Title "CRIMES," for the protection of all persons in the United States in their civil rights, and for their vindication, shall be exercised and enforced in conformity with the laws of the United States, so far as such laws are suitable to carry the same into effect; but in all cases where they are not adapted to the object, or are deficient in the provisions necessary to furnish suitable remedies and punish offenses against law, the common law, as modified and changed by the constitution and statutes of the State wherein the court having jurisdiction of such civil > or criminal cause is held, so far as the same is not inconsistent with the Constitution and laws of the United States, shall be extended to and govern the said courts in the trial and deposition of the cause, and, if it is of a criminal nature, in the infliction of punishment on the party found guilty. In any action or proceeding to enforce a provision of sections 1981, 1982, 1983, 1985, and 1986 of this title, title IX of Public Law 92-318, or title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the court, in its discretion, may allow the prevailing party, other than the United States, a reasonable attorney's fee as part of the costs."

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

References to the record are to the record as contained in the Appendix.

The first opinion of the Court of Appeals (App. 15-22) adequately sets forth the facts of the underlying suit in which attorney's fees were sought by petitioner: His money held in the registry of the court by the County officials earned interest which they wrongfully refused to pay to petitioner and instead paid to Harris County under a statute, Article 2558a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes (App. 51a; repealed; See recodification at § 117-.054, Tex. Local Government Code), previously ruled unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of Texas.

Petitioner's trial complaint (App. 1-9) alleged specific facts showing that persons (Harris County and certain of its officials) acted under color of statutes of the State (Article 2558a) to subject or cause to be subjected a citizen of the United States (petitioner) to the deprivation of rights, privileges or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws (interest due petitioner on trust funds deposited in court as protected by the Fourteenth Amendment).

The Court of Appeals on rehearing (App. 23-29) sustained respondents' claim that governmental immunity shielded them from liability for attorney's fees awardable under Texas' version of the Uniform Declaratory Judgment Act, § 37.009 Tex. Civil Practices and Remedies Code. This holding is not challenged nor could it be because it is purely a state law issue on declaratory judgment actions, only.

However, the Court of Appeals ignored and refused to rule upon petitioner's point in his brief and motion for rehearing (App. 10-14, 30-35) that a state rule of governmental immunity does not apply to an action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 or to an award of attorney's fees under 42 U.S.C. § 1988. (App. 36). The Supreme Court of Texas likewise declined to rule on this issue. (App. 37-50).

REASONS FOR GRANTING THE WRIT

The state court has decided a federal question in a way in conflict with applicable decisions of this Court. Rule 17(c), Rules of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Webb's Fabulous Pharmacies, Inc. v. Beckwith, 449 U.S. 155, 66 L.Ed.2d 358, 101 S. Ct. 446 (1980), upon identical facts as the case at bar, held that appropriation of private trust fund interest by government under color of state statute was violative of the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments. This Court cited Sellers v.

Harris County, 483 S.W.2d 242 (Tex. 1972), as authority of another state conflicting with the Florida courts' decision. In Sellers, upon identical facts involving the same governmental unit as the case at bar, the Texas Supreme Court held that appropriation of private funds under color of state law was "untenable so long as private property is constitutionally protected." 483 S.W.2d at 243. So it should remain.

Clearly, petitioner plead an action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983. He was granted a summary judgment on liability affirmed by the Court of Appeals. Yet, the Texas Courts ignored and refused to rule upon petitioner's point that a state rule of governmental immunity does not apply to civil rights actions, including 42 U.S.C. § 1988.

This Court has settled the question whether state governmental immunity or other state laws can bar suit or limit liability under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 in state court litigation against governmental units. Felder v. Casey, 487 U.S. 131, 101 L.Ed.2d 123, 108 S. Ct. 2302 (1988); Martinez v. California, 444 U.S. 27, 62 L.Ed.2d 481, 100 S. Ct. 553, (1980). It has ruled that a prevailing party in a civil rights action is mandatorily entitled to an award of attorney's fees. Blanchard v. Bergeron, 489 U.S. 87, 103 L.Ed.2d 67, 109 S. Ct. 939 (1989); Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 76 L.Ed.2d 40, 103 S. Ct. 1933 (1983). This is the law of the land.

The Texas Courts have ignored their duty to enforce the federal rights of petitioner. Mondou v. New York, New Haven & Hartford Ry. Co., 223 U.S. 1, 56 L.Ed. 327 32 S. Ct. 169 (1912); Hathorn v. Lovorn, 457 U.S. 255, 72 L.Ed.2d 824, 102 S. Ct. 2421 (1982).

CONCLUSION

The federal question presented is of importance to the jurisprudence of the nation. If ignoring federal claims and refusing to address them is tolerable, then the federal claims are meaningless and the supreme law of the land is diminished. Writ of certiorari should be issued.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT
OF HARRIS COUNTY, TEXAS
295TH JUDICIAL DISTRICT

PETER S. STEIGERWALD, et al.,
Plaintiffs,

v.

ANITA RODEHEAVER, et al.,
Defendants.

(Filed January 6, 1989)

PLAINTIFF'S FIRST AMENDED
ORIGINAL PETITION

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF SAID COURT:

Plaintiffs, Peter S. Steigerwald and R. C. Smith, complain of Anita Rodeheaver, County Clerk of Harris County, Texas, Nikki Van Hightower, County Treasurer of Harris County, Texas, J. F. Flack, County Auditor of Harris County, Texas, and the County of Harris, Texas, defendants.

(a) Peter S. Steigerwald is a resident of Harris County, Texas.

(b) R. C. Smith is a resident of Montgomery County, Texas.

(c) Anita Rodeheaver is County Clerk of Harris County, Texas, and has answered herein.

(d) Nikki Van Hightower is County Treasurer of Harris County, Texas, has answerd herein.

(e) J. F. Flack is County Auditor of Harris County, Texas, and has answered herein.

(f) The County of Haris has answered herein.

(g) Because this suit seeks a declaration of the unconstitutionality of statutes applied to the facts of this case, a copy hereof has been served upon the Attorney General of Texas, Jim Mattox, Attorney General's Office, State Supreme Court Building, Austin, Texas.

This is a suit for declaratory judgment, money damages and mandamus against proper officials to enforce and collect a demand arising out of the refusal to pay interest earned upon deposits into the registry of the County Civil Courts at Law held in trust by the County Clerk for the benefit of plaintiffs.

3.

In cause number 428-274 in the County Civil Court at Law No. 4, styled Harris County Flood Control District v. R. C. Smith, the condemning agency deposited the sum of $63,340 into the registry of the court on September 20, 1983, in order to obtain the right of possession of the property sought. The deposit was made under the authority of Section 21.021(a)(1), Property Code, and it was subject to the order of the property owner, R. C. Smith.

The County Clerk received the deposit and thereupon caused it to be deposited, pursuant to Article 2558a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes (repealed, now Section 117.021 et seq., Local Government Code), with First City National Bank of Houston, the duly authorized and selected depository for trust funds in possession of the County and District Clerks of Harris County, Texas. In 1985, the depository was changed to Allied Bank of Texas. The pledge contracts under which the depositories held trust funds expressly provide for interest to be paid upon the funds deposited.

5.

The funds so deposited earned interest from the depository. Purporting to act pursuant to Section 4a of Article 2558a, and possibly Article 1656a, V.A.T.S. (repealed, now Section 112.002 et seq., Local Government Code), officials responsible for the sale handling of the deposited funds paid the interest earned thereon to Harris County for use in its General Fund. To the extent Section 4a of Article 2558a and Article 1656a allow or require that the interest earned be paid to Harris County, such statutes are unconstitutional under the state and federal constitutions, including Art. I, Sec. 19, Tex. Const., and the Fourteenth Amendment, U.S. Const.

The earnings on the funds in question are a mere incident of ownership of the funds. None of the defendants owned the funds. The funds were held in trust for the benefit of R. C. Smith and he was eventually adjudged entitled to such funds. By virtue thereof, he became entitled to interest earned thereon.

7.

Pursuant to order of the court, R. C. Smith withdrew the funds held for him January 7, 1987. The warrant number was 001152, referable to trust fund 14764, and the amount disbursed was $63,340. R. C. Smith was not paid interest earned upon that sum for the period September 20, 1983, to January 7, 1987. Demand was made on his behalf to all defendants to pay interest earned for the period the money was held in the registry and to take all other necessary action for payment of the amounts due him. Despite the clear unconstitutionality of the statutes in question, the defendants fail and refuse to pay interest earned. Such failure and refusal under the circumstance constitutes conversion.

8.

In cause number 443,959 in the County Civil Court at Law No. 1, styled City of Houston v. Peter S. Steigerwald, the condemning agency deposited the sum of $1,427,677 into the registry of the court on September 28, 1984, in order to obtain the right of possession of the property sought. The deposit was made under the authority of Section 21.021(a)(1), Property Code, and it was subject to the order of the property owner, Peter S. Steigerwald.

The County Clerk received the deposit and thereupon caused it to be deposited, pursuant to Article 2558a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes (repealed, now Section 117.021 et seq., Local Government Code), with First City National Bank of Houston, the duly authorized and selected depository for trust funds in possession of the County and District Clerks of Harris County, Texas. In 1985, the depository was changed to Allied Bank of Texas, and in 1987 the depository was changed to MBank Houston. The pledge contracts under which the depositories held trust funds expressly provide for interest to be paid upon the funds deposited.

The funds so deposited earned interest from the depository. Purporting to act pursuant to Section 4a of Article 2558a, and possibly Article 1656a, V.A.T.S. (repealed, now Section 112.002 et seq., Local Government Code), officials responsible for the sale handling of the deposited funds paid the interest earned thereon to Harris County for use in its General Fund. To the extent Section 4a of Article 2558a and Article 1656a allow or require that the interest earned be paid to Harris County, such statutes are unconstitutional under the state and federal consitutions, including Art. I, Sec. 19, Tex. Const., and the Fourteenth Amendment, U.S. Const.

The earnings on the funds in question are a mere incident of ownership of the funds. None of the defendants owned the funds. The funds were held in trust for the benefit of Peter S. Steigerwald and he was eventually adjudged entitled to such funds. Specifically, the court trying such condemnation proceeding ordered the County Clerk to disburse such funds to Peter S. Steigerwald, "together with any interest earned thereon."

12.

Pursuant to order of the court, Peter S. Steigerwald withdrew the funds held for him May 19, 1987. The warrant number was 020062, referable to trust fund 15087, and the amount disbursed was $1,427,677. Peter S. Steigerwald was not paid interest earned upon that sum for the period September 28, 1984, to May 19, 1987. Demand was made on his behalf to all defendants to pay interest earned for the period the money was held in the registry and to take all other necessary action for payment of the amounts due him. Despite the clear unconstitutionality of the statutes in question, the defendants fail and refuse to pay interest earned. Such failure and refusal under the circumstances constitutes conversion.

13.

Plaintiffs made their demand upon the appropriate officials and the government to pay interest earned upon such deposits, more than thirty (30) days has elapsed, and defendants have not paid the just amount thereof. All conditions precedent to plaintiffs' recovery have been performed or have occurred.

14.

Plaintiffs sue defendants for a declaratory judgment that the sums deposited by the condemnors to each of their orders were sums to which each was entitled and that the orders and judgments in those cases established plaintiffs' entitlement to the funds and their ownership thereof. Their seek a declaratory judgment that interest earned thereon when deposited with the depository, from the date of deposit until the principal was withdrawn, acrued to plaintiffs and became theirs. They seek a declaratory judgment of the unconstitutionality of Section 4a of Article 2558a and Article 1656a as plead. They seek a declaratory judgment of the illegality of the payment and receipt and use of that money belonging to plaintiffs. They further seek a declaratory judgment that the refusal of defendants to pay them the interest earned constitutes conversion, is illegal, and is a breach of duty. Plaintiffs seek recovery of interest earned from defendants, together with prejudgment and postjudgment interest thereon. The right of plaintiffs to receive the amounts lawfully owing them is as clear as the duty of the defendants to pay them those sums. The refusal of defendants to pay arises from defendants' refusal to acknowledge a clear and unambiguous duty under the law. Mandamus to each of the entities or persons sued is the only lawfully available remedy to enforce and collect the judgment that should be rendered. Accordingly, plaintiffs ask the court to isue its order that the clerk of this Court issue a writ of mandamus to each of the defendants to perform the duty of each necessary to pay the just claim of plaintiffs.

Plaintiffs ask the Court to award them reasonable and necessary attorney's fees for the prosecution of this suit.

WHEREFORE, plaintiffs pray that defendants be cited herein, and that upon final judgment, they be awarded declaratory judgment, the amounts due them by law, interest thereon, attorney's fees, costs, and such writs as are necessary to effectuate their recovery.

the owner did not want the property or had waived the property. No thief whose thoughts are felonious would be entitled to rely upon a victim's conduct to excuse the theft or justify ownership under theories of estoppel or waiver.

The County had no right to rely upon Article 2558a. It had no right to believe it was entitled to interest upon the funds when it was neither condemnor nor landowner. It could not be misled in its budget policies because reliance upon funds gained by an unconstitutional practice is impermissible so long as private property is constitutionally protected.

The County's appeal is frivolous and this Court should assess damages.

REPLY POINT FOUR (RESTATED)

Sovereign immunity, an affirmative defense, was not plead by the County, is irrelevant to a civil rights action under 42 U.S.C. 1983 et seq., and has no application to recovery of attorney's fees in a declaratory judgment action.

Statement, Argument and Authority

(Under Reply Point Four)

The County's trial pleading was its third amended original answer. (Tr. 163) It does not contain any claim of governmental immunity, an affirmative defense which must be plead or it is waived. Davis v. City of San Antonio, 752 S.W.2d 518 (Tex. 1988).

Smith's and Steigerwald's trial pleading was their first amended original petition. (Tr. 50) They plead a suit for declaratory judgment, damages and appropriate writs. They also plead all of the elements necessary to state a cause of action under 42 U.S.C. 1983, reading:

> "Every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage, of any State or Territory or the District of Columbia, subjects, or causes to be subjected, any citizen of the United States or other person within the jurisdiction thereof to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in an action at law, suit in equity, or other proper proceeding for redress. . ."

They plead facts showing that persons (the County defendants) acted under color of statutes of the State (Articles 2558a, Sec. 4a and 1656a) to subject or caused to be subjected citizens of the United States (plaintiffs) to the deprivation of rights, privileges or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws (interest due plaintiffs as protected by the Fourteenth Amendment). These pleadings state a cause of action under 42 U.S.C. 1983 which, if proved, make the defendants liable in an action at law or in equity.

Rules 45 and 47, Tex. R. Civ. Pro., only require a statement in plain and concise language of the plaintiffs' cause of action, sufficient to give notice of the claim involved. Pleadings shall be construed so as to do substantial justice. The authorities and commentaries are too numerous to cite that it is not necessary for a pleader to characterize or label his cause of action. So long as the elements of an action or actions are plead, the Court will give relief under any theory applicable to the pleadings, liberally construed.

State courts have concurrent jurisdiction with federal courts over Sec. 1983 actions, City of Amarillo v. Langley, 651 S.W.2d 906 (Tex. App.—Amarillo 1983, no writ), but Texas courts are governed by construction and interpretation given 42 U.S.C. Sec. 1983, et seq., by the federal courts, Gay v. The State of Texas, 730 S.W.2d 154, 157 (Tex. App.—Amarillo 1987, no writ).

Section 1988 provides:

> ". . . . In any action or proceeding to enforce a provision of sections 1981, 1982, 1983, 1985, and 1986 of this title IX of Public Law 92-318, or title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the court, in its discretion, may allow the prevailing party, other than the United States, a reasonable attorney's fee as part of the costs."

The federal courts have interpreted this statute as requiring the award of attorney's fees to a prevailing plaintiff. Blanchard v. Bergeron, ____U.S.____, 109 S. Ct. 939 (1989); Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 103 S. Ct. 1933 (1983); Johnson v. Georgia Highway Express, Inc., 488 F.2d 714 (5th Cir. 1974).

The defendants' contention that sovereign immunity prevents an award of attorney's fees against them is not available in civil rights actions under 42 U.S.C. Sec. 1983. Monell v. Dept. of Soc. Serv. of City of N.Y., 436 U.S. 658, 56 L.Ed.2d 611, 98 S. Ct. 2018 (1978); City of Houston v. De Trapani, 771 S.W.2d 703, 708 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th District] 1989, writ denied).

Irrespective of the foregoing, case authority of the Courts of Appeals relied upon by the County holding that sovereign immunity precludes an award of attorney's fees against government in declaratory judgment actions is wrong.

Sovereign immunity involves two distinct concepts: Consent to sue government in the courts of the state and immunity from liability for torts committed by government employees, agents and representatives. 27 Tex. L. Rev. 337 (1949); 44 Tex. L. Rev. 151 (1965); Greenhill and Murto, "Governmental Immunity," 49 Tex. L. Rev. 462 (1971). Consent to sue has been given, Section 81.041, Local Government Code, and attorney's fees are not classified as tort damages.

Attorney's fees against government in declaratory judgment actions are allowable. Duncan v. Pogue, 759 S.W.2d 435 (Tex. 1988). There is no reason why government cannot be awarded attorney's fees in such an action. The vice of any holding that sovereign immunity prevents an award of attorney's fees against government, yet government may be awarded such fees, is the inequality between the classes entitled to and subject to attorney's fees. There must be equality in order for the statute to be constitutionally firm. Gulf Coast and Santa Fe R. Co. v. Ellis, 165 U.S. 150, 41 L.Ed. 666, 17 S. Ct. 255 (1897).

The County here sought an award of attorney's fees. (Tr. 163)

CONCLUSION AND PRAYER

Smith prays for affirmance of the trial court judgment he was granted, with assessment of damages against the County for a frivolous appeal. Steigerwald prays for severance of the attorney's fees issue referable to him, reversal of that portion of the judgment and remand for partial retrial of attorney's fees due

PETER S. STEIGERWALD, Appellant

V.

ANITA RODEHEAVER, COUNTY CLERK OF HARRIS COUNTY, TEXAS, NIKKI VAN HIGHTOWER, COUNTY TREASURER OF HARRIS COUNTY, TEXAS, J. F. FLACK, COUNTY AUDITOR OF HARRIS COUNTY, TEXAS, and HARRIS COUNTY, Appellees

On Appeal from the 295th District Court
Harris County, Texas

Trial Court Cause No. 87-31986

O P I N I O N

Peter Steigerwald appeals from a judgment in which the trial court granted interest on a condemnation award fund and attorney's fees. Steigerwald limits his appeal to his complaint that the trial court awarded an inadequate amount as attorney's fees. Appellees ("Harris County") filed a cross-appeal and claim the trial court erred in (1) awarding the interest on the funds to Steigerwald and R. C. Smith, (2) disallowing jury issues on estoppel and waiver, and (3) awarding attorney's fees. Concluding the evidence is factually insufficient to support the amount of attorney's fees awarded, we reverse the portion of the judgment that awarded attorney's fees and remand for a new trial on that issue alone. We affirm the remainder of the judgment.

Steigerwald and Smith were landowners in two separate condemnation proceedings. Smith deposited $63,340 into the registry of the court on September 20, 1983, to challenge the county's right to condemn his land. The Harris County clerk held the money until January 7, 1987, when Smith withdrew it. The money earned interest while the county clerk held it. Steigerwald deposited $1,427,677 into the registry of the court on September 28, 1984. Steigerwald withdrew the money on May 19, 1987. Steigerwald's money also earned interest while it was on deposit with the clerk.

Neither Steigerwald nor Smith received the interest earned on the money they had on deposit with the clerk. The county retained the interest earned and placed it into the Harris County general fund. Steigerwald and Smith filed suit against the county clerk and others for declaratory judgment asking the trial court to declare who owned the interest. On motion for summary judgment, the trial court determined as a matter of law that Steigerwald and Smith were entitled to damages and attorney's fees, both amounts to be determined at trial. In the ensuing trial, the jury found Smith was entitled to $16,411.11 in interest and Steigerwald was entitled to $271,- 809.50. They further awarded reasonable and necessary attorney's fees in the amount of $3000 to Steigerwald and $700 to Smith. From the judgment based on those findings and the summary judgment, Steigerwald and the county appeal.

In two points of error, Steigerwald claims the jury's finding of $3000 in attorney's fees is against the great weight and preponderance of the evidence. The jury found that $3000 was a reasonable and necessary attorney's fee for trial and found no attorney's fees for appeal to the court of appeals or the supreme court.

Where the challenge to a jury finding is framed as an insufficient evidence point, the appellate court is to consider all evidence in the case, both that in support of and that contrary to the finding, to determine if the challenged finding is so against the great weight and preponderance of the evidence as to be manifestly unjust. King v. Bauer, 688 S.W.2d 845 (Tex. 1985); In re King's Estate, 150 Tex. 662, 244 S.W.2d 660, 661 (1951). Where there is a question concerning what constitutes a reasonable attorney's fee, that question is one of fact, which the fact finder must determine. Great American Ins. Co. v. Britton, 406 S.W.2d 901, 907 (Tex. 1966); Aetna Casualty and Surety Co. v. Joseph, 769 S.W.2d 603, 608 (Tex. App.—Dallas 1989, no writ). The fact finder's determination, however, must have some basis in the evidence. Aetna Casualty and Surety Co. v. Joseph, 769 S.W.2d at 608.

The only evidence in the record concerning reasonable attorney's fees comes from the testimony of Charles Dippel, Steigerwald's attorney. Dippel testified he and Steigerwald agreed to a contingent fee arrangement where reasonable and necessary fees for this case would be $113,609 in the trial court, $22,722 in the court of appeals, and $17,041 in the supreme court. On cross-examination, Dippel testified that a reasonable hourly fee for his services would be $300 to $350 per hour. He also testified that he worked approximately 115 hours on Stegerwald's case. Based on an hourly rate, Dippel testified a reasonable and necessary attorney's fee would be approximately $40,250. Considering this evidence in the light most favorable to the jury's finding, we find there is no reasonable basis in the record on which the finding of $3000 could be justified. We sustain points of error one and two.

Harris County has filed four cross-points of error claiming the trial court erred in (1) granting Steigerwald and Smith's motion for summary judgment; (2) awarding Steigerwald and Smith interest on the award funds; (3) failing to submit issues of estoppel and waiver to the jury; and (4) awarding attorney's fees to Steigerwald and Smith. We have reviewed the record and find that it does not contain the affidavits of R. C. Smith, Peter Steigerwald, and Charles Dippel, plaintiffs' interrogatories and answers, plaintiffs' request for admissions and their responses, certified copies of depository contracts between Harris County Commissioners Court and banks acting as depositories for trust funds held by the district and county clerks, and the deposition of Faye Christopher. Those documents were listed in the motion for summary judgment as summary judgment proof.

As cross-appellant, the county has the burden to bring forward the summary judgment record to prove reversible error. See Escontrias v. Apodaca, 629 S.W.2d 697, 699 (Tex. 1982). When the summary judgment record is incomplete, we must assume that the documents omitted support the correctness of the trial court's judgment. Chessher v. Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., 671 S.W. 2d 901, 903 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 1983) rev'd on other grounds, 658 S.W.2d 563 (Tex. 1983).

The county claims the court erred in granting Steigerwald and Smith's motion for summary judgment because they were not the owners of the awards funds and should not be awarded the interest on those funds. The county claims that article 2558a of the Texas Revised Civil Statutes allows it to recover all the interest earned on the award funds to cover its administrative expenses in handling the fund.

In Sellers v. Harris County, 483 S.W.2d 242 (Tex. 1972), the supreme court found article 2558a unconstitutional to the extent it deprived the owner of interest on the award funds in a sum not reasonably related to the value of the county's services in safeguarding and investing the principal. That court found the county did not own the funds, but only held them in trust for the litigant who establishes his right thereto. Id. The interest earned on the deposit of money owned by the parties to a lawsuit is an increment that accrues to that money and to its owners. Lawson v. Baker, 220 S.W. 260 (Tex. Civ. App. 1920, writ ref'd). The supreme court found the county, although not entitled to all the interest on the award funds, is entitled to receive a part of the interest earned on the trust funds as compensation for the accounting and administrative expenses incurred in handling the trust funds." *

* Since the disposition of that case, the legislature has codified article 2558a in the Local Government Code. The legislature incor-

The court, in its judgment, found Steigerwald and Smith were entitled to the interest on the accounts, but left the amount of interest to be determined by a trial. Although the county may show what amount it was due for accounting and administrative expenses, it failed to request an issue on how much of the interest was due them for accounting and administrative expenses. Therefore, the county waived any right it had to a portion of the interest on the award funds. We overrule the county's first two cross points of error.

In its third cross-point, the county claims the trial court erred in not submitting issues of estoppel and waiver to the jury. The county alleges that Stegerwald and Smith are estopped to claim interest on the award funds because they chose to contest the condemnors' right to take the property. To establish estoppel, the county must show: (1) a false representation or concealment of material facts, (2) made with knowledge, actual or constructive of those facts, (3) to a party without knowledge, or means of knowledge, of those facts, (4) with the intention that it should be acted on, and (5) reliance by the party to whom the misrepresentation was made, to that party's detriment. Texas Gas Exploration v. Broughton Offshore Ltd., 790 S.W.2d 781, 786 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 1990, n.w.h.).

porated the Sellers decision and provided the county is entitled to recover a part of the interest earned on funds placed in trust. TEX. LOCAL GOV'T CODE ANN. § 117.054 (Vernon 1988). The revisor's note to section 117.054 states the supreme court's decision indicates that article 2558a is only unconstitutional to the extent that the statute deprived a person of due process and that it is still operable to the extent that a reasonable amount of the interest accumulated on the trust funds may be given to the county to compensate it for the accounting and administrative expenses incurred in handling the trust funds.

Each case in which estoppel is sought to be applied must rest on its own facts. Barfield v. Howard M. Smith Co. of Amarillo, 426 S.W.2d 834, 838 (Tex. 1986). Estoppel may be invoked against a party only when he has failed to do that which he has a duty to do. Vrazel v. Skrabanek, 725 S.W.2d 709, 711 (Tex. 1987). Waiver results when the evidence proves there has been an intentional relinquishment of a known right. United States Fidelity & Guaranty v. Bimco Iron, 464 S.W.2d 353 357 (Tex. 1971). Because we do not have the summary judgment proof in the record before us, we must assume the evidence did not raise the issues of waiver and estoppel. See Escontrias v. Apodaca, 629 S.W.2d at 699. Therefore, the trial court properly refused to submit the issues. We overrule the county's third cross-point of error.

In its fourth cross-point, the county claims Steigerwald and Smith are not entitled to attorney's fees because the county is protected by sovereign immunity. The Uniform Declaratory Judgment Act provides that attorney's fees can be recovered in a successful declaratory judgment action. Tex. Civ. Prac. & Rem. Code Ann. § 37.009 (Vernon 1986). Only where the trial court denies declaratory relief or improperly renders a declaratory judgment, is it an abuse of discretion to award attorney's fees to the successful party. City of Houston v. Harris County Out door Advertising Assoc., 732 S.W.2d 42, 56 (Tex. App. —Houston [14th Dist.] 1987, writ ref'd n.r.e.). A governmental unit is not immune under the Uniform Declaratory Judgments Act. Duncan v. Pogue, 759 S.W.2d 435, 435-36 (Tex. 1988). Steigerwald and Smith were successful in their declaratory judgment action; therefore, they are entitled to recover attorney's fees from the county. We overrule the county's fourth cross-point of error.

We reverse the portion of the trial court's judgment that awarded attorney's fees and remand for a new trial on attorney's fees alone. We affirm the remainder of the judgment.

On Appeal from the 295th District Court
Harris County, Texas
Trial Court Cause No. 87-31986

OPINION ON MOTION FOR REHEARING

Harris County has filed a motion for rehearing limited to the issue of the award of attorneys fees. On Original submission, we held that a governmental unit is not immune from liability for attorney's fees under the Uniform Declaratory Judgment Act. We cited as authority Duncan v. Pogue, 759 S.W.2d 435 (Tex. 1988). The county asserts Duncan "is not really dispositive of the issue" because the "defensive issue of sovereign immunity was not discussed." We agree and believe our disposition of the issue deserves more discussion. Neither the supreme court per curiam opinion in Duncan nor the court of appeals opinion (753 S.W.2d 255), which the supreme court reversed, discusses the context in which the issue arose. From the court of appeals opinion, it appears the issue of the award of attorney's fees was raised for the first time on appeal. If this is true the issue was waived, Davis v. City of San Antonio, 752 S.W.2d 518 (Tex. 1988), and reliance upon it for the proposition of law we state is not justified.

From the record before us, the real issue facing us is whether the county waived the issue of sovereign immunity from liability for attorney's fees. Since the county did not plead the issue in its answer, it would have been indisputably waived but for the manner in which it was presented at trial.

Prior to trial, the court granted plaintiff's motion for partial summary judgment and denied the county's motion to litigate certain issues before the jury. Therefore, the court narrowed the issues to be tried before the jury to "damages," and on June 19, 1989, ordered a hearing be set at a date convenient to all parties. A joint pretrial order was signed by the trial judge and counsel for both plaintiffs and the defendant on August 14, 1989. The order was nine pages in length. Under the heading "AGREED APPLICABLE PROPOSITIONS OF LAW" the parties stated "There are none." Under the heading "CONTESTED ISSUES OF LAW" was the following:

> PLAINTIFF'S POSITION:
> The County contests that attorney's fees can be awarded against it under the declaratory judgment act (Section 37.009, Civil Practice and Remedies Code) because of sovereign immunity. Smith and Steigerwald say that consent to sue the County has been given and this is not a tort action, thus sovereign immunity has no application. Legal memoranda are attached.

DEFENDANTS' POSITION:

1. . . .

2. . . .

3. . . .

4. That the Plaintiffs are not entitled to attorney's fees under the Declaratory Judgment Act, due to the doctrine of sovereign immunity.

"Plaintiffs Legal Memorandum on Attorney's Fees," attached to the pretrial order, did not assert that the county had waived the issue of sovereign immunity by failing to plead it, but instead asserted:

> The Supreme Court has held that attorney's fees can be awarded against governmental entities under § 37.009. Duncan v. Pogue, 759 S.W.2d 435 (Tex. 1988). The County will contend that the concept of sovereign immunity prevents an award of attorney's fees against it. The County's contention and any cases supporting it are flawed because
> 1. Sovereign immunity involves two distinct concepts: Consent to sue government in the courts of the state and immunity from liability for the torts committed by government's employees, agents and representatives. 27 Tex. L. Rev. 337 (1949); 44 Tex. L. Rev. 151 (1965); Greenhill and Murto, "Governmental Immunity," 49 Tex. L. Rev. 462 (1971).
> 2. This is not a tort case, and consent to sue has been given. § 81.041, Local Government Code.
> 3. This is a declaratory judgment action.
> Sovereign immunity has no application to this case.

The county attached to the pretrial order a photocopy of the three cases it relied upon in support of its position that the doctrine of sovereign immunity precluded an award of attorney's fees: City of Houston v. Lee, 762 S.W.2d 180 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 1988, writ denied); Texas Dept. of Human Services v. Methodist Retirement Services, Inc., 763 S.W.2d 613 (Tex. App.—Austin 1989, no writ), and City of Houstson v. De Trapani, 771 S.W.2d 703 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 1989, writ denied).

At trial, the county objected to the submission of the attorney fee question to the jury, and following the verdict filed a motion to disregard those findings. Finally, the county filed a motion for new trial contesting the attorney fee award. In all three of the instances, the sovereign immunity defense was asserted. It is interesting to note that plaintiffs also filed a motion to disregard the jury findings on attorney's fees, contending (1) that their cause of action was a § 1983 civil rights action and, therefore it was the duty of the court, not the jury, to access the fees; and that (2) "plaintiffs have also sued under the Declaratory Judgment Act" and that in such action "the great weight of authority is that the Court determines the attorney's fees in its discretion." Accordingly, the plaintiffs requested the court to disregard the jury's answers and that "the Court find attorneys fees as requested." This history has been set out to show how the issue was raised in the trial court and to further show that the plaintiff never asserted, prior to the filing of an appellate brief, that the county had waived the doctrine of sovereign immunity by failing to plead it. Further, we find the issue was tried by consent of the parties.

The rule is well settled that an affirmative defense may be tried by consent, even if it is not properly plead. Gulf & Basco Co. v. Buchanan, 707 S.W.2d 655 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 1986, writ ref'd n.r.e.); Liveoak v. Ingham, 644 S.W.2d 566 (Tex. App.—El Paso 1982, writ ref'd n.r.e.); Realtex Corp. v. Tyler, 627 S.W.2d 441 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 1981, no writ); La Margue Independent School Dist. v. Thompson, 580 S.W. 2d 670 (Tex. Civ. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 1979, no writ); Whitley v. Whitley, 566 S.W.2d 660 (Tex. Civ. App.—Beaumont 1978, no writ). The question here was clearly brought before the court not only by consent, but also by the active assistance of both parties. Gulf Basco, 707 S.W.2d at 657. The issue is therefore properly before us.

Attorney's fees are not recoverable against a governmental entity under the Declaratory Judgment Act. De Trapani, 771 S.W.2d at 708; Texas Dept. of Human Services, 763 S.W.2d at 614; Lee, 762 S.W.2d at 188. Since there is no authority for the assessment of attorney's fees against the county when the defense of sovereign immunity has been raised, we grant its motion for rehearing and modify the judgment to delete the award of attorney's fees. We affirm the remainder of the judgment.

PETER S. STEIGERWALD and R. C. SMITH, APPELLEES

This cause, an appeal from the judgment in favor of Anita Rodeheaver, County Clerk of Harris County, Texas, Niqqi Van Hightower, County Treasurer of Harris County, Texas, J. F. Flack, County Auditor of Harris County, Texas, and Harris County signed September 13, 1989, came on to be heard on the transcript of the record. We have inspected the record and find the trial court erred in awarding attorney's fees to appellees. We therefore order that portion of the judgment of the court below, which awarded attorney's fees modified to delete the award of attorney's fees. We affirm the remainder of the judgment.

We order to pay Anita Rodeheaver, County Clerk of Harris County, Texas, Nikki Van Hightowner, County Treasurer of Harris County, Texas, J. F. Flack, County Auditor of Harris County, Texas, and Harris Country all costs incurred by appellants. Additionally, we order Peter S. Steigerwald and his surety, Universal Surety of America, jointly and severally, and R. C. Smith to pay all costs incurred by appellees. This decision is ordered certified below for observance.

CAUSE NUMBER 14-90-00020-CV

IN THE COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE FOURTEENTH SUPREME JUDICIAL DISTRICT
SITTING AT HOUSTON
PETER S. STEIGERWALD
Appellant-Appellee,

v.

ANITA RODEHEAVER, et al.,
Appellees-Appellants.

STEIGERWALD'S MOTION FOR REHEARING

TO THE HONORABLE COURT:

Pete Steigerwald moves the Court to grant rehearing on its opinion and judgment dated March 7, 1991, to withdraw the opinion and judgment, and to thereafter affirm the judgment below except as to issue of the amount of attorney's fees, as to which the Court, after confirming Steigerwald's entitlement to attorney's fees, should reverse and remand for retrial on that issue.

GROUNDS FOR REHEARING

GROUND ONE

The Court erred in failing to hold that because Steigerwald pled and obtained affirmative relief under 42 U.S.C. Section 1983, he was mandatorily entitled to an award of attorney's fees under 42 U.S.C. Section 1988, irrespective of sovereign immunity.

GROUND TWO

The Court erred in holding that Steigerwald tried the defense of sovereign immunity by consent.

GROUND THREE

The Court erred in failing to follow and hold that under Davis v. City of San Antonio, 752 S.W.2d 518 (Tex. 1988), failure to plead the affirmative defense of sovereign immunity resulted in a waiver of the defense.

GROUND FOUR

The Court erred in holding that the County is immune from suffering an award of attorney's fees under Section 37.009, Civil Practice and Remedies Code.

GROUND FIVE

The Court erred in failing to address and decide Steigerwald's Point One in his brief as appellant, reading:

> "The jury findings on jury question number 2 are against the great weight and preponderance of the evidence."

GROUND SIX

The Court erred in failing to address and decide Steigerwald's Point Two in his brief as appellant, reading:

> "Attorney's fees awarded by the Court in the judgment are inadequate."

ARGUMENT

In Steigerwald's brief as appellee to the County's appeal, pp. 10-12, he demonstrated under his Reply Point Four that his action also constituted a claim under 42 USC Section 1983 upon which he prevailed, mandatorily requiring an award of attorney's fees as to which sovereign immunity has no application. This Court makes reference to Steigerwald's contention under 42 USC Sections 1983, 1988, in its opinion, p. 4. The Court cites as authority against attorney's fees entitlement under Section 37.009, Civil Practice and Remedies Code, its decision in City of Houston v. De Trapani, 771 S.W.2d 703 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th District] 1989, writ denied), which expressly holds that sovereign immunity does not bar an award of attorney's fees in a civil rights suit. Steigerwald is entitled to an award of attorney's fees under 42 USC Section 1988 and the opinion and judgment of March 7, 1991, should be withdrawn.

The Court's holding that Steigerwald tried the affirmative defense of sovereign immunity by consent rests in part upon the mention of sovereign immunity in the pretrial order. Unless this Court is holding that mention of it in a pretrial order is the equivalent of pleading it, the Court holds contrary to Davis v. City of San Antonio, 752 S.W.2d 518 (Tex. 1988), requiring the pleading of the defense and rejecting other means of asserting the defense. If post-verdict motions cannot assert or preserve the defense, then stating the issue of sovereign immunity in the pretrial order or an objection to the charge on the issue is not the equivalent. Irrespective, the County here did not object to submission of the attorney's fees question until after it was submitted. (S.F. 137, 138; Tr. 468, 469) That does not preserve complaint or error under our Rules.

The rule announced by the Court encourages lax attention to the rules of procedure by government and punishes those opposing government by either requiring them to alert the government to get its pleadings right or by condemning them for asserting on appeal that government has waived a defense.[1] Since no evidence was or could have been adduced on sovereign immunity, and only a law issue was discussed, Steigerwald could not be held to have consented to trial of a matter not then plead.

Steigerwald has set forth in his brief as appellee, pp. 12, 13, the reasons why sovereign immunity cannot apply to awards of attorney's fees under Section 37.009, Civil Practice and Remedies Code. By following prior decisions of this Court and the 1st and 3rd Courts of Appeals holding that sovereign immunity applies, government is entitled to attorney's fees under Section 37.009, yet may not be subjected to attorney's fees under it, imposing on the statute an inequality that is impermissible under the Constitutions. The Court is bound to construe the statute as constitutional, if possible. The only possible constitutional construction is that it applies equally for and against government and sovereign immunity is not applicable.

This Court decided by its opinion and judgment of January 3, 1991, in Steigerwald's favor on his two points as appellant. By withdrawal of the opinion and judgment, those points remain undecided, requiring the Supreme Court to remand to this Court for further action if this Court erred on the issue of entitlement to attorney's fees. Judicial economy strongly suggests that the Court decide those points so that if the Supreme Court

1. Steigerwald makes no excuse for never asserting prior to appeal that the County had waived the defense by failing to plead it. (Op., p. 4) Responding to the County's appellate brief was the first chance Steigerwald had to assert waiver. He was under no prior obligation to tell the County other reasons existed why its position on sovereign immunity was defective.

takes a different view of entitlement to attorney's fees, the only further court action necessary is retrial of the amount of attorney's fees.

WHEREFORE, Pete Steigerwald prays the Court for rehearing, wtihdrawal of the opinion and judgment of March 7, 1991, reversal and remand on the issue of adequacy of attorney's fees, and affirmance otherwise.

. . . that neither the "facts of the case" nor post verdict motions can preserve the defense.

The governmental unit here did not plead governmental immunity and the Court of Appeals' holding that Petitioner tried the defense by consent by the manner in which it was presented at trial directly conflicts with Davis v. City of San Antonio, supra. Neither a statement of contested issues of law in a pretrial order or briefing thereon, nor objection to submission of issues, nor post verdict motions can preserve the defense. All are as suspect as the facts in Davis v. City of San Antonio, supra, relied upon by the government to show preservation of the defense. If this Court allows erosion of the holding in Davis v. City of San Antonio, supra, by the facts in this case, then the better course is to overrule the decision and allow ad hoc determination in each case whether any unplead affirmative defense has been adequately brought to the trial court's attention. Otherwise, the bright line holding of Davis v. City of San Antonio, supra, should be honored and reaffirmed.

POINTS OF ERROR

POINT ONE

[Germane to Ground One, Motion for Rehearing]

The Court of Appeals erred in failing to hold that Petitioner pled and obtained affirmative relief under 42 USC Section 1983, thus he was mandatorily entitled to an award of attorney's fees under 42 USC Section 1988, irrespective of governmental immunity. (Tr. 50, 177, 597)

POINT TWO

[Germane to Grounds Two, Three, Motion for Rehearing]

The Court of Appeals erred in failing to follow Davis v. City of San Antonio, 752 S.W.2d 518 (Tex. 1988), and hold that failure to plead the affirmative defense of governmental immunity waived the defense, and in holding that Petitioner tried the defense by consent because of the manner in which it was presented at trial. (Tr. 163, 468, 469, 521; Ct. App. Op., pp. 2-4)

POINT THREE

[Germane to Ground Four, Motion for Rehearing]

The Court of Appeals erred in holding that governmental units are immune under the doctrine of governmental immunity from an award of attorney's fees under Section 37.009, Civil Practice and Remedies Code. (Ct. App. Op., pp. 4, 5)

POINT FOUR

[Germane to Grounds Five, Six, Motion for Rehearing]

The Court of Appeals erred in failing to address and decide Petitioner's points one and two in that Court concerning factual insufficiency and inadequacy of the finding of attorney's fees by the jury. (Tr. 572, 597-604; S.F. 81-97)

BRIEF OF THE ARGUMENT

POINT ONE (RESTATED)

The Court of Appeals erred in failing to hold that Petitioner pled and obtained affirmative relief under 42 USC Section 1983, thus he was mandatorily entitled to an award of attorney's fees under 42 USC Section 1988, irrespective of governmental immunity.

Statement, Argument and Authority

(Under Point One)

Petitioner's trial pleading was the first amended original petition. (Tr. 50; Appendix 1) He plead a suit for declaratory judgment, damages, appropriate writs and attorney's fees. He plead all of the elements necessary to state a cause of action under 42 U.S.C. 1983, reading:

> "Every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage, of any State or Territory or the District of Columbia, subjects, or causes to be subjected, any citizen of the United States or other person within the jurisdiction thereof to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in an action at law, suit in equity, or other proper proceeding for redress . . ."

He plead facts showing that persons (Harris County and certain governmental officials) acted under color of statutes of the State (Articles 2558a, Sec. 4a and 1656a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes, [repealed, now Sections 117.051, 112.002, Local Government Code]) to subject or caused to be subjected citizens of the United States (Steigerwald) to the deprivation of rights, privileges or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws (interest due Steigerwald on trust funds deposited in court as protected by the Fourteenth Amendment). This pleading states a cause of action under 42 USC 1983 which, if proved, make the defendants liable in an action at law or in equity. Webb's Fabulous Pharmacies, Inc. v. Beckwith, 449 U.S. 155, 101 S. Ct. 446 (1980); Sellers v. Harris County, 483 S.W.2d 242 (Tex. 1972). The trial court granted a partial summary judgment on liability. (Tr. 177)

Rules 45 and 47, Tex. R. Civ. Pro., only require a statement in plain and concise language of the plaintiff's cause of action sufficient to give notice of the claim involved. The authorities and commentaries are too numerous to cite that it is not necessary for a pleader to characterize or label his cause of action. So long as the elements of an action or actions are plead, the courts will give relief under any theory applicable to the pleadings, liberally construed. Pleadings shall be construed so as to do substantial justice. Respondents never specially excepted to the pleading as being too indefinite or for a mare explicit statement.

State courts have concurrent jurisdiction with federal courts over Section 1983 actions, City of Amarillo v. Langey, 651 S.W.2d 906 (Tex. App.—Amarillo 1983, no writ), but Texas courts are governed by construction and interpretation given 42 USC Sec. 1983, et seq., by the federal courts, Gay v. The State of Texas, 730 S.W.2d 154, 157 (Tex. App.—Amarillo 1987, no writ).

Section 1988 provides:

> ". . . . In any action or proceeding to enforce a provision of sections 1981, 1982, 1983, 1985, and 1986 of this title IX of Public Law 92-318, or title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the court, in its discretion, may allow the prevailing party, other than the United States, a reasonable attorney's fee as part of the costs."

The federal courts have interpreted this statute as requiring the award of attorney's fees to a prevailing plaintiff. Blanchard v. Bergeron, 489 U.S. 87, 109 S. Ct. 939 (1989); Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 103 S. Ct. 1933 (1983); Johnson v. Georgia Highway Express, Inc., 488 F.2d 714 (5th Cir. 1974).

Respondents' trial pleading was their third amended original answer. (Tr. 163) It does not contain any claim of governmental immunity, an affirmative defense which must be plead or it is waived. Davis v. City of San Antonio, 752 S.W.2d 518 (Tex. 1988). The Respondents' contention that governmental immunity prevents an award of attorney's fees against them is not available in civil rights actions under 42 USC Sec. 1983. Monell v. Dept. of Soc. Serv. of City of N.Y., 436 U.S. 658, 56 L.Ed.2d 611, 98 S. Ct. 2018 (1978); City of Houston v. De Trapani, 711 S.W.2d 703, 708 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 1989, writ denied).

The Court of Appeals recognized in its opinion, p. 4, that Petitioner contended his suit included a civil rights action under 42 USC 1983, and even cited its own opinion in City of Houston v. De Trapani, supra, holding that governmental immunity is not available in civil rights actions. Inconsistently, it failed or refused to hold that irrespective of governmental immunity Petitioner was mandatorily entitled to an award of attorney's fees.

Without reaching the issues of waiver of the affirmative defense or whether governmental immunity bars recovery of attorney's fees against government under Section 37.009, Civil Practice and Remedies Code, this Court should grant writ of error, reverse the judgment of the Court below and remand the cause to that Court to decide Steigerwald's factual insufficiency points on attorney's fees.

POINT TWO (RESTATED)

The Court of Appeals erred in failing to follow Davis v. City . . .

SUPREME COURT OF TEXAS

PETER S. STEIGERWALD,
Petitioner,

v.

MOTION FOR REHEARING ON APPLICATION FOR WRIT OF ERROR

TO THE SUPREME COURT OF TEXAS:

Petitioner, Peter S. Steigerwald, presents his Motion for Rehearing on his application for writ of error for revision of the opinion and judgment of the Court of Appeals.

GROUNDS FOR REHEARING

GROUND ONE

The Court erred in failing to hold that Petitioner pled and obtained affirmative relief under 42 USC Section 1983, thus he was mandatorily entitled to an award of attorney's fees under 42 USC Section 1988, irrespective of governmental immunity. The failure of Texas Courts to allow recovery of attorney's fees to a prevailing party in a civil rights action constitutes a denial of equal protection.

GROUND TWO

The Court erred in failing to hold that failure to plead the affirmative defense of governmental immunity waived the defense and in failing to hold that Petitioner did not try the defense by consent because of the manner in which it was presented at trial.

GROUND THREE

The Court erred in failing to hold that governmental units are not immune under the doctrine of governmental immunity from an award of attorney's fees under Section 37.009, Civil Practice and Remedies Code.

GROUND FOUR

The Court erred in failing to remand the cause to the Court of Appeals to address and decide Petitioner's points one and two in that Court concerning factual insufficiency and inadequacy of the finding of attorney's fees by the jury.

Brief of the Argument

The failure of the Court to grant writ of error upon Petitioner's Point One constitutes a failure by this Court to follow unambiguous holdings by the United States Supreme Court compelling an award of attorney's fees to a prevailing party in a civil rights action. This Court has a duty to enforce the federal rights of Petitioner, Mondou v. New York, New Haven & Hartford Ry. Co., 32 S. Ct. 169, 223 U.S. 1, 56 L.Ed. 327 (1912); Hathorn v. Lovorn, 102 S. Ct. 2421, 457 U.S. 255, 72 L.Ed. 2d 824 (1982), and exercising discretion to refuse to correct the decision by the Court below denying Petitioner's federal rights does not fulfill that duty.

Petitioner's trial pleading was the first amended original petition. (Tr. 50) He plead generally a suit for declaratory judgment, damages, appropriate writs and attorney's fees. He plead all of the elements necessary to state a cause of action under 42 USC 1983, reading:

> "Every person who, under color of any statute, ordinance, regulation, custom, or usage, of any State or Territory or the District of Columbia, subjects, or causes to be subjected, any citizzen of the United States or other person within the jurisdiction thereof to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in an action at law, suit in equity, or other proper proceeding for redress. . . ."

He plead specific facts showing that persons (Harris County and certain governmental officials) acted under color of statutes of the State (Articles 2558a, Sec. 4a and 1656a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes, [repealed, now Sections 117.051, 112.002, Local Government Code]) to subject or caused to be subjected citizens of the United States (Steigerwald) to the deprivation of rights, privileges or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws (interest due Steigerwald on trust funds deposited in court as protected by the Fourteenth Amendment). This pleading states a cause of action under 42 USC 1983 which, if proved, makes the defendants liable in an action at law or in equity. Webb's Fabulous Pharmacies, Inc. v. Beckwith, 449 U.S. 155, 101 S. Ct. 446 (1980); Sellers v. Harris County, 483 S.W.2d (Tex. 1972). The trial court granted a partial summary judgment on liability (Tr. 177), thus all theories of recovery applicable to the facts pled were sustained and were not required to be tried at time of trial.

State courts have concurrent jurisdiction with federal courts over Section 1983 actions, City of Amarillo v. Langley, 651 S.W.2d 906 (Tex. App.—Amarillo 1983, no writ), but Texas courts are governed by construction and interpretation given 42 USC Sec. 1983, et seq., by the federal courts, Gay v. The State of Texas, 730 S.W.2d 154, 157 (Tex. App.—Amarillo 1987, no writ).

Section 1988 provides:

> ". . . . In any action or proceeding to enforce a provision of sections 1981, 1982, 1983, 1985, and 1986 of this title IX of Public Law 92-318, or title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the court, in its discretion, may allow the prevailing party, other than the United States, a reasonable attorney's fee as part of the costs."

The federal courts have interpreted this statute as requiring the award of attorney's fees to a prevailing plaintiff. Blanchard v. Bergeron, 489 U.S. 87, 109 S.

Ct. 939 (1989); Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 103 S. Ct. 1933 (1983); Johnson v. Georgia Highway Express, Inc., 488 F.2d 714 (5th Cir. 1974).

Respondents' trial pleading was their third amended original answer. (Tr. 163) It does not contain any claim of government immunity, an affirmative defense which must be plead or it is waived. Davis v. City of San Antonio, 752 S.W.2d 518 (Tex. 1988). The Respondents' contention that governmental immunity prevents an award of attorney's fees against them is not available in civil rights action under 42 USC Sec. 1983. Monell v. Dept. of Soc. Serv. of City of N.Y., 436 U.S. 658, 56 L.Ed.2d 611, 98 S. Ct. 2018 (1978); City of Houston v. De Trapani, 771 S.W.2d 703, 708 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th District] 1989, writ denied).

The Court of Appeals recognized in its opinion, p. 4, that Petitioner contended his suit included a civil rights action under 42 USC 1983, and even cited its own opinion in City of Houston v. De Trapani, supra, holding that governmental immunity is not available in civil rights actions. Inconsistently, it failed or refused to hold that irrespective of governmental immunity Petitioner was mandatorily entitled to an award of attorney's fees.

Petitioner contended from the outset in the Court below that he had pled and obtained relief under 42 USC § 1983. That Court failed to address that reply point. Thus, unless the Supreme Court of the United States reverses, the bench and bar of Texas will never know by the opinion of the Court below that Petitioner has been deprived of a federally protected right. This Court's denial of writ, although discretionary, will not alter that fact.

Petitioner requests the Court to correct a wrong where it is obvious, grant rehearing and writ of error, and reverse the judgment of the Court below. Petitioner's other points are adequately brief in his application and do not need repeating here.

COUNTY DEPOSITORS

Placing trust funds on time deposit; withdrawals; interest

Sec. 4a. The Commissioners Court of each county, acting by and through the County Auditor, or if there is no County Auditor then the County Treasurer, of such county, is authorized to place on time deposit with the depository bank for trust funds in the possession of County and District Clerks of such County, that portion of the trust funds account estimated by the County Auditor or County Treasurer, as the case may be, as not required immediately to pay out all amounts in accordance with proper orders of the Judge of the Court in which funds have been deposited. If at any time the funds so placed on time deposit are required before maturity, they shall be made available by the depository bank but the depository bank shall not be liable for interest earned on such amount withdrawn from time deposit. The Commissioners Court is authorized and directed to receive all interest so earned on time deposit of such trust funds and to place all such interest into the General Fund of the County as an offset to the expenses of handling such trust funds for the benefit of litigants.

Whether in a civil rights action against a government unit under 42 U.S.C. § 1983, an award of attorney's fees to the prevailing party is mandatory under 42 U.S.C. § 1988, irrespective of a state law rule of governmental immunity to liability for attorney's fees, wherein the alleged "civil rights action" was neither pled by the Petitioner nor any evidence offered thereon in the trial court, but was raised for the first time after jury verdict in his "Motion to Disregard Jury's Answers".

Brief In Opposition To Petition For Writ Of Certiorari To The Supreme Court Of The United States

BRIEF IN OPPOSITION TO PETITION FOR WRIT OF CERTIORARI

RESPONDENTS HARRIS COUNTY, TEXAS, et al, prespectfully pray that a Writ of Certiorari to review the judgment and opinion of the Texas Court of Appeals, 14th District, be denied.

OPINION BELOW

The opinion and judgment of the Texas Court of Appeals, 14th District, appears in the Appendix of Petitioner's Application For Writ of Certiorari (pages 23a - 29a), and the opinion is reported at 807 S.W.2 790.

CONSTITUTIONAL & STATUTORY PROVISIONS INVOLVED

Respondent denies that any of the following constitutional and statutory provisions are involved in this case:

1) 5th Amendment to the United States Constitution (deprivation of property without due process);

2) 14th Amendment to the United States Constitution;

3) 42 U.S.C. § 1983 (Civil Rights);

4) 42 U.S.C. § 1988 (Attorney's Fees on Civil Rights Cases).

As discussed below, none of the above federal constitutional or statutory provisions are discussed in the opinion on motion for rehearing of the Texas Court of Appeals, 14th District. In addition, the only thing that Petitioner is really complaining about in his Application For Writ of Certiorari is the failure of the State courts to allow him to recover attorney's fees. Respondents submit that attorney's fees in this context are not "property" under the 5th Amendment to the United States Constitution. It follows that Plaintiff is unable to show any deprivation of "property" under said 5th Amendment.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

I.

IN THE TRIAL COURT:

Petitioner would have this Court believe that he both pled and proved a civil rights cause of action (42 U.S.C. § 1983) against Harris County Texas, in the trial court below. See Petitioner's "Statement of the Case", Application For Writ, page 4. However, a close examination of Petitioner's "First Amended Original Petition" (Application For Writ, App. pages 1a-9a) will readily show this Court that Petitioner wholly failed to plead said civil rights cause of action. Nor did Petitioner ever make any representations during the trial that he was bringing a civil rights cause of action against the Defendants. At no time before or during the trial, by pleadings or presentation of evidence, did Petitioner ever raise the civil rights issue. (S/F 1-155). Petitioner first made his contention that he had in fact pled a civil rights action and was therefore entitled to attorney's fees under 42 U.S.C. § 1988 in his "Motion to Disregard Jury's Answers. . . . And to find Attorney's Fees. . . ." (App. pages 14a - 17a). Said Motion to Disregard Jury's Answers was properly denied by the trial court, and final judgment was entered awarding Petitioner those attorneys' fees as found by the jury. (See Judgment, App. pages 18a - 22a).

II

IN THE COURT OF APPEALS OPINIONS:

The entire texts of the Texas Court of Appeals opinions are set forth in Petitioner's Application For Writ, Appendix pages 15a - 29a. Neither opinion contains any discussion of any federal questions, or any discussion of Petitioner's claim for attorney's fees under 42 U.S.C. § 1988. The Texas Supreme court denied Petitioner's Application For Writ of Error, and likewise declined to rule on this issue. (Petitioner's Application For Writ, App. page 50a).

REASONS FOR NOT GRANTING THE WRIT

I.

THERE IS NO STATE COURT OPINION ON A FEDERAL QUESTION WHICH IS IN CONFLICT WITH APPLICABLE DECISIONS OF THIS COURT.

Petitioner alleges that this Court should grant his petition based on Rule 17(c), (now Rule 10c), Rules of the Supreme Court of the United States, i.e., the State court has decided a federal question in a way in conflict with applicable decisions of this Court. However, as admitted by Petitioner, the State court made no such finding on his civil rights complaint, one way or the other. (See Petitioner's Brief, page 5). Neither the State Court of Appeals original opinion (Petition For A Writ of Certiorari, Appendix p. 15a) or their Opinion on Motion For Rehearing (Petition For A Writ of Certiorari, Appendix p. 23a) address Petitioner's allegations that he is entitled to attorney's fees under 42 U.S.C. § 1988. It follows that the requirements of said Rule 10(c) are not met in this case. There can be no "conflict" between the Texas Court of Appeals decisions (as published), and the applicable decisions of this Court, if said State court decisions do not address and are silent on the contested issue.

The only subject discussed in the Texas Court of Appeals opinion on motion for rehearing concerns Petitioner's entitlement to attorney's fees under the Texas Declaratory Judgment Act. See said opinion in Petitioner's Application for Writ of Certiorari, Appendix, page 23a. Said opinion does not involve any constitutional issue, nor does it involve any type of "conflict" with any opinion of this Court. It follows that Petitioner's application for writ of certiorari under Rule 10(c) should be denied.

II.

THERE IS NO SUBSTANTIAL FEDERAL ISSUE OF NATIONAL IMPORTANCE.

In addition, Petitioner is unable to show this Court that there are any special and important reasons for granting his application for writ, in accordance with Rule 10.1, Supreme Court Rules. It can hardly be said that the issue of attorney's fees in a state declaratory judgment action against a governmental unit is a substantial federal issue of national importance, nor is it of any real importance to the public in general. Rice v. Sioux City Memorial Parks Cemetary, Inc., 75 S. Ct. 614, 349 U.S. 70, 99 L.Ed. 897 (1955); NLRB v. Pittsburg S.S. Co., 71 S. Ct. 453, 340 U.S. 498, 95 L.Ed. 479 (1951). There are no special or important reasons reaching constitutional dimensions for this Court to grant this application for writ. Fay v. Noia, 83 S. Ct. 822, 372 U.S. 391, 9 L.Ed. 2d 837 (1963); Rice v. Sioux City Memorial Parks Cemetery, Inc., supra.

CONCLUSION

Petitioner cannot satisfy the requirements of Rule 10, Supreme Court Rules, to justify granting of writ of certiorari in this case, for the following reasons:

(1) There are no special or important reasons therefor (Rule 10.1); and,

(2) There is no state court opinion on an important question of federal law that conflicts with applicable decisions of this Court. [Rule 10(c)].

Petitioner's application for writ should therefore be denied.

Oral Argument
Requested

ARGUMENT AND AUTHORITIES

REPLY TO POINT ONE (Civil Rights Contention) PLAINTIFF IS NOT ENTITLED TO ATTORNEYS FEES UNDER CIVIL RIGHTS ACT.

The Plaintiffs first made their contentions that they had in fact pled a civil rights action and were therefore entitled to attorney's fees under 42 U.S.C. § 1988 in their "Motion To Disregard Jury's Answer To Question No. 2". (Tr. 576). The patently obvious purpose of this transparent ploy was to allow the trial court to disregard the jury finding on attorney's fees, and render unto the Plaintiffs' attorney those fees which he would like to receive.

The Plaintiffs' rationale is that under 42 U.S.C. § 1988, the jury finding is advisory only, and the trial court may choose to disregard the jury's finding on attorney's fees. The fact remains that Plaintiffs' pleadings in this cause are totally devoid of any mention of or reference to 42 U.S.C. §§ 1983 and 1988. Had Plaintiffs pled such a cause of action, the Defendants could quite possibly have chosen to remove same to the federal courts. To allow Plaintiffs to make such a claim after jury verdict would be an unfair deprivation of the Defendants' right to have the alleged civil rights case removed to federal court.

Plaintiff's contention that he is entitled to attorney's fees under the civil rights act (42 U.S.C. 1983) is a somewhat tardy and patently transparent attempt to allow the trial court to set aside the jury award of attorney's fees in the amount of $3,000.00 (See Judgment Tr. 592, 597), and to award attorney's fees in the trial court's discretion under 42 U.S.C. § 1988. The Plaintiff was very dissatisfied with the jury's award of attorney's fees, so he invented this somewhat ingenious argument that he was, in truth and in fact, at all times during this contest, pleading and proving a civil rights action herein. This court should see through and disregard this transparent maneuver on the part of the Plaintiff.

Plaintiff's contention that he did in fact plead a civil rights action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983, and is therefore entitled to attorney's fees under 42 U.S.C. § 1988, comes too late. At no time before or during the trial, by pleadings or presentation of evidence, did Plaintiff ever raise the civil rights issue. There was therefore no "fair notice" to Defendants of Plaintiff's civil rights claim, nor was the issue tried by consent.

Rule 45, Tex. Rules Civ. Proc., provides in part as follows:

> "Pleadings in the district and county courts shall (a) be by petition and answer;
> (b) consist of a statement in plain and concise language of the plaintiff's cause of action or the defendant's grounds of defense. That an allegation be evidentiary or be of legal conclusion shall not be grounds for objection when fair notice to the opponent is given by the allegations as a whole;" (Emphasis added).

Rule 47, Tex. Rules Civ. Proc., provides in part as follows:

> "An original pleading which sets forth a claim for relief, whether an original petition, counterclaim, cross-claim, or third party claim, shall contain > (a) a short statement of the cause of action sufficient to give fair notice of the claim involved," > (Emphasis added).

One of the primary purposes of pleadings, as directed by Rules 45 and 47, Tex. Rules Civ. Proc., is to give the opposing party "fair notice" of the substance of a party's claims in the case. This the Plaintiffs totally failed to do. "Fair notice" was not given the County that the Plaintiff was in effect pleading a civil rights action, and Plaintiff's claims in this regard should be denied. Jay Fikes and Assoc. v. Walton, 578 S.W.2d 885 (Tex. App.—Amarillo 1979, ref. n.r.e.); Burnett/Smallwood and Co. v. Helton Oil Co., 577 S.W.2d 291 (Tex. App.—Amarillo 1979, n.w.h.).

Nor were the civil rights issues "tried by consent". At no time during the presentation of evidence in the trial of the case below did the Plaintiffs ever apprise the court or the Defendants that they were seeking relief under the civil rights act. (S/F 1-155). Theories of recovery that are neither raised by the pleadings or tried by consent are deemed to have been waived by the party asserting them. Rule 67, Tex. Rules Civ. Proc., Gulf & Basco Co. v. Buchanan, 707 S.W.2d 655 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 1986, wr. ref. n.r.e.); La Marque Independent School Dist. v. Thompson, 580 S.W.2d 670 (Tex. App. —Houston [14th Dist.] 1979, n.w.h.); Whitley v. Whitley, 566 S.W.2d 660 (Tex. App.—Beaumont 1978, n.w.h.).

Again, Plaintiffs' burden of proof in a civil rights action as well as Defendants' presentation of evidence in defense thereof is entirely different in a civil rights action than that presented in this case. Monell v. Dept. of Social Services of City of New York, 436 U.S. 658, 98 S. Ct. 2018 (1978). Defendants submit that Plaintiffs failed to sustain their burden of proof on the alleged civil rights action, but more importantly, by the Plaintiffs failing to plead the civil rights action, the County had no opportunity to structure its defense accordingly. Such a situation fails to satisfy the "fair notice" pleading requirement that a Plaintiff must satisfy in order to give the Defendant a fair opportunity to defend the lawsuit. Rules 45 and 47, Tex. Rules Civ. Prec.; Ghazali v. Southland Corp., 669 S.W.2d 770 (Tex. Ct. App.—San Antonio 1984, n.w.h.); Roark v. Allen, 633 S.W.2d 804 (Tex. 1982); Armstrong v. Armstrong, 601 S.W.2d 724 (Tex. App.—Beaumont 1980, ref. n.r.e.).

It is significant to note that had Plaintiffs raised the civil rights action in the trial court, the Defendants would have been required to structure their defense to respond to these new and different allegations. To allow the Plaintiffs to come along after the fact and claim that they did, in fact, plead and prove a civil rights action against the Defendants would deprive the Defendants of the opportunity of structuring their defense by the presentation of evidence and defensive matters in response thereto. Surely such an unfair and inequitable result will not be approved by this court.

Finally, for Plaintiff to raise the "waiver for lack of pleading" issue against the Defendants on their sovereign immunity defense, and at the same time contend that he is entitled to a civil rights action in this case (even though not pled) presents a somewhat contradictory approach by the Plaintiff. If the Plaintiff is going to rely on Davis v. City of San Antonio, 752 S.W.2d 518 (Tex. 1988) in support of his allegations that the Defendants have "waived" their sovereign immunity defense by failing to plead same, then the Defendants submit that Davis should also preclude the Plaintiff from making any such civil rights claim. In fact, Davis is much more applicable to the Plaintiff's civil rights pleading claim, because Plaintiff as in Davis, totally failed to raise any civil rights claim until after the trial before the court. CONCLUSION: Plaintiff neither pled nor raised any civil rights cause of action in the trial court below, and this court should therefore deny Plaintiff's claim for attorney's fees under 42 U.S.C. § 1988.

RESPONDENTS' REPLY TO PETITIONER'S MOTION FOR REHEARING ON APPLICATION FOR WRIT OF ERROR

TO THE SUPREME COURT OF TEXAS:

RESPONDENTS ANITA RODEHEAVOR, County Clerk of Harris County, Texas, NIKKI VAN HIGHTOWER, County Treasurer of Harris County, Texas, J. F. FLACK, County Auditor of Harris County, Texas and HARRIS COUNTY, TEXAS, presents this their Reply To Petitioner's Motion For Rehearing On Application For Writ of Error, and pray for affirmation of the judgment of this court, denying Petitioner's application for writ of error.

REPLY TO PETITIONER'S GROUND ONE (CIVIL RIGHTS CONTENTION)

STATEMENT OF FACTS:

Petitioner totally failed to plead any type of civil rights cause of action undner 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Petitioner's trial pleading was his First Amended Original Petition (Tr. 50, Appendix 1 To Petitioner's Application For Writ of Error) and a review thereof will show the court that it is totally devoid of any suggestion that petitioner is bringing a civil rights cause of action against the Respondents.

A review of the Statement of Facts will show the court that at no time during the presentation of evidence was the issue of a civil rights violation raised by the Petitioner. (S/F p. 1-155).

It was not until after a jury verdict had been returned awarding the Petitioner a rather nominal amount for attorney's fees (see Judgment, Tr. 597) that Petitioner sought to claim by means of Motion To Disregard Jury's Answers that they had in fact pled and proven a civil rights action, and were therefore entitled to an award of attorney's fees, irrespective of the jury award. (Tr. 576).

ARGUMENT AND AUTHORITIES

Petitioner raises no new arguments or points of law on this civil rights contention. The fact remains that Petitioner never raised any civil rights claims or presented any evidence thereon in the trial court, until after both sides had "closed" and a jury verdict rendered awarding Petitioner a rather nominal sum of $3,000.00 (See Judgment, Tr. 592, 597).

This Ground of Error has been adequately briefed in Respondents' "Reply To Point One (Civil Rights Contention)" (See Respondents' Reply To Petitioner's Application For Writ of Error, Pages 9-13), and will not be repeated here.

Respondents submit that Petitioner has been afforded a full and complete trial by jury on the merits of the case, and has been afforded all of the appeal rights that are due him under the Texas Rules of Appellate Procedure. This being the case, Respondents deny Petitioner's contention that the failure of the Texas courts to allow recovery of attorney's fees to a prevailing party in a civil rights action constitutes a denial of equal protection.

REPLY TO PETITIONER'S GROUNDS OF ERROR NUMBERS TWO ("WAIVER" CONTENTION), THREE (SOVEREIGN IMMUNITY DEFENSE) AND FOUR (FACTUAL INSUFFICIENCY)

Respondents' reply to these additional Grounds of Error are adequately briefed in their "Reply To Petitioner's Application For Writ Of Error", pages 14-36, and will not be repeated here.

CONCLUSION AND PRAYER

WHEREFORE, PREMISES, ARGUMENT AND AUTHORITIES CONSIDERED, Respondents pray for denial of Petitioner's Motion For Rehearing on Application For Writ of Error, and pray for judgment affirming the judgment of this court, denying Petitioner's application for writ of error, and for such other and further relief to which they are justly entitled.

Plaintiffs,

v.

ANITA RODEHEAVER, et al.,

MOTION TO DISREGARD JURY'S ANSWERS TO JURY QUESTION NO. 2 AND MOTION TO FIND ATTORNEY'S FEES AND SIGN JUDGMENT

TO THE HONORABLE JUDGE OF SAID COURT:

Plaintiffs, Peter S. Steigerwald and R. C. Smith, move the Court to disregard the jury's answers to Jury Question No. 2 as immaterial and advisory, then to find reasonable and necessary attorney's fees and sign a judgment awarding full relief sought, upon the following grounds:

Jury Question No. 2 was submitted by the Court with full recognition by the Court and the parties that the jury's answers would be advisory, since the Court must find and determine whether to award reasonable attorney's fees. The jury's answers to Jury Question No. 2 demonstrates that the jury failed to follow the evidence adduced, finding attorney's fees in amounts so low as to shock the conscience and which are not sustainable under the evidence. The Court could not in good conscience be advised by the answers and the answers must be disregarded.

Plaintiffs have plead an action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983, et. seq., commonly known as the Civil Rights Act of 1871. The Act provides that any person (the County defendants) who, under color of any statute of any State (Article 2558a, Sec. 4a) subjects or causes to be subjected any citizen of the United States (Steigerwald and Smith) to the deprivation of any rights, privileges or immunities secured by the Constitution and laws (their interest due them as protected by the Fourteenth Amendment), shall be liable in an action at law or in equity. This Court has concurrent jurisdiction over the action with any Federal court. Section 1988 of 42 U.S.C. provides that in any action under Section 1983, "the court, in its discretion, may allow the prevailing party a reasonable attorney's fee as part of the costs." Case authority holds that the Court, and not the jury, determines the attorney's fee. The award has been held to be mandatory to a prevailing party, and plaintiffs have prevailed here.

Plaintiffs have also sued under the Texas Declaratory Judgment Act. Section 37.009, Civil Practice and Remedies Code, provides that the Court may award costs and reasonable and necessary attorney's fees "as are equitable and just." The great weight of authority is that the Court determines the attorney's fees in its discretion, and any appellate review of attorney's fees is based upon the abuse of discretion standard.

The only evidence of reasonable and necessary attorney's fees in this case demonstrates the following fees which should be awarded

R. C. Smith		$6,400 total
Peter S. Steigerwald	Trial Court	$113,609
	Court of Appeals	$22,722
	Supreme Court	$17,041

Plaintiff's request award of fees in those amounts. If the Court concludes to create an independent record of attorney's fees evidence or to supplement the record made at trial, plaintiffs stand ready to provide evidence as the Court deems necessary.

The jury's answers to Jury Question No. 1 were the only answers which could have been given. The County's testimony and evidence amounted to no evidence because in all instances in which the formula might be applied the County would retain, and not pay to persons entitled, the difference in rate between the checking and time deposits, up to the amount of the checking account balances. The Court should sign a judgment based upon Jury Question No. 1.

WHEREFORE, the plaintiffs pray that the jury answers to Jury Question No. 2 be disregarded, that the Court find attorney's fees as requested, and that the Court sign a judgment in the attached form.

JUDGMENT

On the 23rd day of August, 1989, came on to be heard the above-entitled and numbered cause, and the Plaintiffs appeared in person or by attorney of record and announced ready for trial, and the Defendants appeared by attorney of record and announced ready for trial, and a jury having been previously demanded, a jury consisting of six good and lawful jurors was duly empaneled and the case proceeded to trial.

At the conclusion of the evidence, the Court submitted the case to the jury on jury questions. The charge of the Court, including the jury questions, and the verdict of the jury, are stated as follows:

JURY QUESTION NO. 1

From a preponderance of the evidence, what sum of money constitutes the interest earned upon the sums of money deposited on behalf of R. C. Smith and Peter S. Steigerwald for the period of time of deposit?

ANSWER in dollars and cents, as to each:

R. C. SMITH:

Answer: $16,411.11

PETER S. STEIGERWALD:

ANSWER: $271,809.50

JURY QUESTION NO. 2

What sum of money, if any, do you find from a preponderance of the evidence constitutes reasonable and necessary attorney's fees for legal services for the prosecution of the claims of R. C. Smith and Peter S. Steigerwald in his suit, including all legal services rendered and to be rendered:

(1) through all proceedings in the trial court?

(2) in the Court of Appeals, should appeal to that Court be perfected?

(3) in the Supreme Court, should an application for writ of error be filed?

Answer in dollars and cents, if any, as to each of the following:

R. C. SMITH:

(1) In the District Court:	$700
(2) In the Court of Appeals:	-0-
(3) In the Supreme Court:	-0-

PETER S. STEIGERWALD:

(1) In the District Court:	$3000
(2) In the Court of Appeals:	-0-
(3) In the Supreme Court:	-0-

The jury returned its verdict upon the vote of five. Post verdict motions by the parties were filed and duly considered by the Court.

It appearing to the Court that the verdict of the jury was for the Plaintiffs and against the Defendants, judgment should be rendered upon the verdict in favor of the Plaintiffs and against the Defendants. Based upon the above jury response to Jury Question No. 2, it is therefore ORDERED that attorney's fees be awarded the Plaintiffs, as follows:

R. C. SMITH	$700.00 for all services rendered, through and including appeal.
PETER S. STEIGERWALD	$3000.00 for all services rendered, through and including appeal.

It is further ORDERED that Plaintiff R. C. Smith do have and recover of and from the defendant, Harris County, the sum of Sixteen Thousand Four Hundred Eleven and 11/100 ($16,411.11) Dollars, together with prejudgment interest thereon at the rate of ten percent (10%) per annum, compounded annually, from January 7, 1987, to the date of this judgment.

It is further ORDERED that plaintiff Peter S. Steigerwald do have and recover of and from the defendant, Harris County, the sum of Two Hundred Seventy-one Thousand Eight Hundred Nine and 50/100 ($271,809.-50) Dollars, together with prejudgment interest at the rate of ten percent (10%) per annum, compounded annually from May 19, 1987, to the date of this judgment.

All of the foregoing amounts shall bear post-judgment interest at the lawful rate prescribed by Article 5069-1.05,

V.T.C.S., to-wit, ten percent (10%) per annum, compounded annually, from date of signing of this judgment until paid.

This Court's prior interlocutory order granting partial summary judgment in favor of plaintiffs is merged into this final judgment.

All costs of Court are adjudged against defendants. All writs and processes for enforcement and collection of this judgment may issue as necessary. All relief not expressly granted is expressly denied;

AND IT IS SO ORDERED, ADJUDGED AND DECREED.

SIGNED this 13th day of September, 1989.

Petition For A Writ Of Certiorari To The Court Of Appeals For The Fourteen Court Of Appeals District Of Texas

PETITIONER'S REPLY BRIEF

Petitioner Peter S. Steigerwald replies to Respondents' brief in opposition to petition for writ of certiorari.

Respondents do not contest the rule that a local government unit's immunity to state claims cannot bar recovery under 42 U.S.C. §1983 et seq. They seek to avoid review of the Texas court's refusal to enforce Petitioner's federal rights solely because the Texas courts did not expressly address the federal claim, therefore no one will be the wiser and this Court should not aid the national ignorance. Respondents are wrong and this Court should come to Petitioner's aid, otherwise the guaranties of the Civil Rights Act are an illlusory promise.

Beyond cavil, Petitioner pled and proved a civil rights action and insisted throughout that he was entitled to attorney's fees under 42 U.S.C. §1988. (Application for Writ Appendix 11a, 31a, 38a, 45a) The attorney's fees "go hand in hand" with the claim, Kentucky v. Graham, 473 U.S. 159, 165, 87 L.Ed.2d 114, 105 S.Ct. 3099, 3104 (1985), thus denial of attorney's fees to a prevailing party is a refusal to enforce federal rights.

The complaint clearly alerted Respondents that they were again committing under color of state statutes the same act condemned twice before by Texas courts as a deprivation of due process. Sellers v. Harris County, 483 SW2d 242 (Tex. 1972): "This result [of confiscating all interest earned on trust deposits] is untenable so long as private property is constitutionally protected." 483 SW2d at 243. Harris County v. Wilkinson, 540 SW2d 541 (Tex.Civ.App.-Houston [14th District] 1976, writ ref'd n.r.e.): "Harris County ... thus continues its efforts to avoid the thrust of Sellers v. Harris County ..." 540 SW2d at 542.

In light of those positive condemnations and this Court's decision in Webb's Fabulous Pharmacies, Inc. v. Beckwith, 449 US 155, 66 L.Ed.2d 358, 101 S.Ct. 446 (1980), Respondents are disingenuous in saying they did not have notice by the complaint that their conduct under color of Article 2558a, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes, deprived Petitioner of rights protected by federal law.

It was unnecessary to try liability under the civil rights action pled because the trial court had granted a partial summary judgment on liability against Respondents prior to trial (App. 1a-3a). This summary judgment was affirmed upon Respondents' failure to present the appellate court with the record on summary judgment. (Application for Writ Appendix 18a-20a) Since the issue of liability was settled, there was no occasion to prove liability at trial.

The reason Petitioner filed Application for Writ with this Court is because the Texas courts did not sustain Petitioner's point that, irrespective of sovereign immunity, he was entitled to attorney's fees under 42 U.S.C. §1988. Refusal to sustain that ground is denial of relief due under federal law. It is only when state courts refuse to enforce federal rights that one can call upon this Court to compel enforcement. While the last opinion of the Court of Appeals refers to the fact that Petitioner contended for attorney's fees under the civil rights act (Application for Writ Appendix 26a), the holding of the court is that sovereign immunity barred recovery of attorney's fees. While failing to give due recognition to Petitioner's federal claim, the Texas court nevertheless denied it solely because of sovereign immunity. That holding conflicts with Martinez v. California, 444 US 27, 62 L.Ed.2d 481, 100 S.Ct. 553 (1980).

This Court "has an independent obligation to ascertain whether a judgment defeating the enforcement of federal rights rests upon a valid nonfederal ground" and it is this Court's duty to act where, in silence, a state court denies enforcement of a federal claim in substance and effect. Howlett v. Rose, _____ U.S. _____, 110 S.Ct. 2430, 2437, 110 L.Ed.2d 332 (1990). There is no valid excuse for the failure of the Texas courts to deny Petitioner's federal right. The Supremacy Clause commands that the Texas courts perform the duty of enforcing the right. Refusal to do so "flatly violates the Supremacy Clause." Howlett v. Rose, supra, 110 S.Ct. 2445.

CONCLUSION

Whether couched in terms of refusal to rule or outright denial, the result is the same. Petitioner has been denied entitlement to a federally protected right solely because of sovereign immunity. He prays the Court to grant his Petition for Writ of Certiorari.

Respectfully submitted,

Plaintiffs,

v.

ORDER ON MOTION FOR PARTIAL SUMMARY JUDGMENT

ANITA RODEHEAVER, et. al.,
Defendants,

BE IT REMEMBERED that on the date of signing of this Order plaintiffs' motion for partial summary judgment was considered by the Court under submission. The Court concludes that plaintiffs are entitled to the partial summary judgment they seek upon undisputed facts. It is accordingly

WHEREAS, Section 4a of Article 2558a, V.T.C.S., and Article 1656a, V.T.C.S., as they existed during all times at controversy herein prior to their repeal and recodification in the Local Government Code, were held to be unconstitutional to the extent they permitted the County to appropriate interest earned on trust funds in excess of an amount reasonably related to the accounting and administrative expenses incurred by the County in handling the funds, in Sellers v. Harris County, 483 SW2d 242 (Tx. 1990). It is ORDERED, ADJUDGED and DECREED that the sums of money deposited by condemnors in the registry of the Courts, subject to the order of the landowners therein, in the following cases:

Cause No. 428,274, Harris County Flood Control District v. R. C. Smith, in the County Civil Court at Law No. 4 of Harris County, Texas, and

Cause No. 443,959, City of Houston v. Peter S. Steigerwald, in the County Civil Court at Law No. 1 of Harris County, Texas, were sums to which each of the respective landowners, plaintiffs herein, were entitled, and the judgments and orders in such cases establish plaintiffs' respective entitlement to the deposits so made and their ownership of such funds. It is

ORDERED, ADJUDGED and DECREED that interest earned on the monies deposited by the condemnors from the time of deposit with the depositories for trust funds held by the County Clerk until withdrawn by the respective plaintiffs herein accrued to the benefit of the respective plaintiffs herein and was owned by the respective plaintiffs herein. It is

ORDERED, ADJUDGED and DECREED that the County of Harris is liable to pay plaintiffs such sums of money as are determined at a trial on the issue of damages. It is ORDERED, ADJUDGED and DECREED that each of the defendants herein is under a duty to forthwith and without further delay take all necessary lawful action to pay any final judgment in favor of plaintiffs herein. In that regard, the Clerk of this Court shall issue a writ of mandamus to each such defendant, commanding and compelling each to act in terms of this judgment if the final judgment is not paid to plaintiffs on the first day after this Court's plenary jurisdiction over the case ends.

This order is interlocutory and shall not become final until merged into a final judgment.

SIGNED this 26th day of May, 1989.
